The grievance must state what part of the contract is being violated and what specifically happened to cause the violation. Should an employee or the Union present a grievance within five (5) days of its occurrence or knowledge of its occurrence, it shall be reviewed under the following procedures:

- Step 1. The employee and/or the Union having a specific grievance may present it in writing to the department supervisor. The department supervisor shall respond in writing within five (5) days. Upon mutual consent a meeting may be arranged to include the employee and union steward.

If either party desires a verbatim record of the proceedings, it may cause such a record to be made, provided it pays for the record and makes copies available without charge to the other party and the arbitrator.

- B. The time limits specified herein for movement of grievances through the procedure shall be strictly adhered to. In the event that a grievance is not appealed within the particular specified time limit, it shall be deemed to be settled on the basis of the Employer's last answer. In the event that the Employer shall fail to supply the Union with its answer within the specified time limits in Steps 1, 2, and 3, the grievance shall be deemed automatically positioned for appeal at the next step with the time limit for exercising said appeal commencing with the expiration of the grace period for answering. If the Employer fails to supply its answer to Step 3 within the prescribed time limit, the grievance shall be deemed to be settled according to the relief requested.

All specified time limits herein shall consist only of regular work days, Monday through Friday, but excluding holidays, observed pursuant to Article 23, Section A. Upon retirement as defined by the Municipal Employees Retirement System (MERS), or upon death, accumulated sick leave will be paid on the basis of three-quarters ($\frac{3}{4}$) of the accumulated, unused sick leave up to ninety (90) days [maximum pay out - sixty-seven and one-half ($67 \frac{1}{2}$) days] at the rate of pay at the time of separation.
- C. Sick days may be utilized for the following:
1. Employee's own illness or injury, provided that their supervisor has been notified at least one (1) hour prior to the beginning of their scheduled shift time.
 2. Serious illness of the employee's spouse, son, daughter, parent, or parents-in-law or in other such unusual cases which involve serious illness which may be approved by the Employer. The first day of surgery for such relatives is considered as eligible for sick benefits.
 3. To supplement Worker's Compensation benefits. Employees may use existing sick leave and then annual leave balances on a prorated basis to supplement benefits received, provided that total compensation does not exceed one hundred percent (100%) of the employee's regular weekly earnings.
 4. Exposure to a "contagious" disease which might make the employee's presence dangerous to patients and fellow employees.

- D. Any paid sick benefits will be counted as time worked for the purpose of any benefits referred to in this Agreement.
- E. All absences, chargeable to sickness, must be supported by an absence slip signed by the employee and the employee's supervisor immediately upon their return to work. Supervisors may request the employee to furnish a statement from his/her physician regarding the illness and the employee's ability to work. Supporting medical documentation must be received by the supervisor no later than fifteen (15) calendar days from the beginning of the sick leave.
- F. An equivalent amount of sick leave shall be deducted from the employee's sick leave accumulations for each period of work time an employee is off sick.
- G. Probationary employees shall earn sick benefit days as provided for in Section (A) above, but shall not be eligible to use sick time until the completion of the probationary period. A probationary employee may request time off for sickness and may have it without pay at the discretion of the Department Head.
- H. Should the employee become injured while at work, it should be reported to the Administrative Office at the Facility AT ONCE regardless of the extent. A seemingly trivial injury may later require the attention of a doctor and may cause the loss of time not compensable because the injury was not reported to the Worker's Compensation Commission.
- I. If an employee has no sick benefit time accumulated and is required to take time off for illness to be eligible to continue employment, he/she will be required to comply with Article 16, LEAVES OF ABSENCE.
- J. In the event an employee's individual sick benefit usage record indicates possible misuse or abuse of sick benefit, said employee may be required to submit proper evidence of his/her illness. Such evidence may consist of a doctor's certificate or other reasonable proof of illness. The Employer may, in certain instances of indicated sick benefit misuse, find it necessary to take reasonable steps to verify and confirm employee's illness. Such actions may include phone calls or personal visits to the employee's residence, contact with employee's doctor, or other appropriate investigation.

ARTICLE 20

During the next to last week of January, March, May, July, September, and November, each bargaining unit employee shall have the opportunity to volunteer for overtime/extra work within their classification which may be available during the next two (2) calendar months by signing the volunteer list as posted by the Employer. The volunteers will be divided into two (2) lists, one for full-time employees and one for part-time employees.
- B. The lists shall show the names of volunteer employees in order of seniority (most senior at the top of the list). If overtime/extra work is required, the work shall be offered to the most senior employee and then in consecutive order of seniority. The name of each employee who has been offered the overtime/extra work assignment will then move to the bottom of the list. Per shift, overtime/extra work assignments will be considered separate events and will be offered in the order specified in paragraph C below.
- C. It is understood that the Employer is obligated to offer such overtime/extra work only to those employees who have expressly volunteered for such work. Overtime/extra work will be assigned in the following order:
 - 1. Part-time employees will be called first.

2. If no part-time employees are available, the Employer will call hourly employees.
 3. If no hourly employees are available, the Employer will call full-time employees.
- D. Each employee who volunteers for overtime/extra work shall be required to keep the department head/Administration informed of their current telephone number or they will be removed from the list after five (5) days.
- E. The Employer's obligation is satisfied if the volunteered employees are called in seniority order according to their current telephone number as listed with the Employer. This Article does not preclude the use of non-bargaining unit employees after an attempt has been made to contact volunteered bargaining unit employees as indicated in paragraph C above. Each employee who volunteers for overtime/extra work shall work at least one (1) shift in the two (2) month call-in list period. An employee who fails to do so will be removed from the next call-in list period.
- F. Employees called in to work with less than one (1) hour advance notice from the start of the shift shall be considered to have started work at the beginning of that shift provided: 1) the employee reports to work within one (1) hour from the time called by the supervisor and 2) they work the remainder of that shift.

 2. Employees desiring to work these additional days will sign an "extra duty volunteer list."
 3. Employees desiring to be placed on the "extra duty volunteer list" must do so by sending written notification to the Employer at least two (2) weeks prior to the effective date.
 4. Employees desiring to terminate their extra duty status must send written notification to the Employer so stating. This termination statement must be received by the Employer

- B. When any position not listed on the wage schedule is established, the Employer may designate a job classification and rate structure for the position. In the event the Union does not agree that the classification and rate are proper, the Union shall have the right to submit the issue as a grievance at Step 2 of the grievance procedure.
- C. Unless mutually agreed upon by the Union and the Employer, employees shall move from the minimum step in the pay range to the maximum step in annual increments.

- D. - E. If an employee transfers to a position of equal or lower pay than the position held prior to the transfer, he/she shall be placed in the step in the pay range in accordance with seniority as defined in Article 9, Section C; and if further advancement is due to reach the maximum step in the pay range, it shall be in accordance with sub-section C of this Article.
- F. Because it takes a few days to process the time cards and prepare checks, we ask that pay checks in advance of the regular pay day not be requested except in cases of extreme emergencies.

- C. The Employer agrees not to interfere with the rights of employees and there shall be no discrimination, interference, restraint, or coercion by the Employer or any Employer representative against any employee because of Union membership or because of any employee's activity in an official capacity on behalf of the Union, or for any other cause. The Union agrees it will not discriminate against an employee because of Union membership or lack of Union membership.

The Union, through its bargaining agent, assumes responsibility for cooperating with management in the attainment of these goals. The Union, therefore, agrees that it will cooperate with the Management to insure a fair day's work on the part of its members. The Union will not cause nor encourage its members to engage in a work stoppage over any unsettled grievance. It is further agreed that no employee, Union member or agent of the Union shall be empowered to call or cause any strike, work stoppage, or cessation of employment of any kind whatsoever.
- B. Insofar as possible, the employees shall keep the Employer informed of a current address and telephone number.
